

Castleton

Permission to Photograph or Videotape Student

In order to provide undergraduate and graduate college students at Castleton with high quality feedback about their developing teaching practice, Castleton, as well as the Agency of Education, requires college students to film themselves while working in the school classrooms. These tapes are used for:

1. Class instruction
2. Licensure portfolios
3. Their own learning process

These tapes are for professional use only. Castleton students are taught about the importance of confidentiality in their teaching practice. These tapes will not be posted in any public forum, on the internet, etc. We ask your permission to have your child videotaped as part of a class.

I, _____ give permission for Castleton University to videotape my child for professional purposes only.
